Enoteca Regionale Acqui "Terme e Vino"

Category: Regional Wineries business description: The Enoteca is located in the small Piazza Abrahm Levi, in Palazzo Robellini, which later became Palazzo Dagna Sabina. Like many buildings in Borgo San Pietro, the palace dates back to the 16th century.
An architrave of the entrance portico bears the name of Giovanni Antonio Robellini, a former owner who carried out several restorations in the 18th century. The façade features 16th-century capitals supported by masonry columns and depicting the family coats of arms.
The Enoteca Regionale, inaugurated in 1981, is located in the palace's basement, in the old cellars, divided into several small rooms topped by barrel vaults, with exposed brick walls and rustic Piedmontese-style wooden furnishings. These characteristic rooms house a collection of traditional tools linked to the local world of vines and wine. Over 140 member companies and 300 labels promote and enhance the local area.
